STRIP ZONING

Inability of zoning authorities to grasp the enormous change in habits of the present day shopper, has in the past few years, and still is, creating strip business zoning, detrimental not only to surrounding properties, but also to business in general.

Pressure groups, composed of land owners, developers and promoters, take advantage of the zoning authorities lack of conception of what the automobile has accomplished in changing habits of the shopper.

The old time neighborhood stores, up on the main street of the community, which drew shoppers from all the surrounding area within walking distance, has become a dead dodo since the family car has become such an important part of every day life. At one time a business street, many blocks long, with highly developed home areas blocks deep on each side, with the customers walking in, did a thriving business. But buyers of today, adverse to walking, jump into the family car to shop, even for small items. A few blocks away is the shopping strip, but with the few available parking facilities already in use, the buyer heads for the nearest shopping center where the car can be parked within a few steps of the counter.

Although shopping centers with plenty of parking are becoming plentiful to the extent of creating keen competition, zoning authorities continue to zone strips which not only continue for blocks, but are fast becoming miles of this kind of commercial property. Results will be a repetition of each type of business every few blocks.

As each merchant learns "That Ends Don't Meet", he looks around for a buyer. Sure, he'll find one, until a time of short money, when the landlord, in order to save his investment will be willing to rent for warehousing and services which will deteriorate the surrounding property values.

Southeast Florida is becoming one of the most outstanding examples of strip zoning, and Wilton Manors is keeping pace with the prevailing indiscrimination. The west side of Wilton Drive has a narrow strip zoned for business from the River on the south to Dixie Hwy. on the other end, offering very little parking. The east side of the Drive is zoned at various depths up to 400 feet deep; but aside from a few business houses on the south end, advantage has not been taken for utilizing the favorable zoning for parking. This holds true also of plans for a new so-called shopping center, the plans calling for use of only 250 feet which will in effect still be little better than strip business.

North Andrews Ave. is now zoned business for approximately 50% its length through Wilton Manors. Depth of the B-1 zoning is up to 300 ft. deep. Aside from a Chain Food Store existing building plans call the most part, for less than 1 to 1 parking

Old Dixie Highway north of Wilton Drive affords only a depth suitable for strip zoning, and indications point to request for the south end of Dixie to be zoned likewise.

We've a card up our sleeve!

BLOOMING BLOOMER

Mrs. Robert Schoales better known to us as "Margaret", who passes out our pills at Williams Pharmacy, is rightly proud of a gardenia bush she grows at her residence, 309 N.E. 21st Ct. Since April 9th when it started to bloom this year, she has kept count of over 1400 blossoms. She has kept her friends, co-workers and neighbors well supplied with the lovely perfumed flowers. The bush is five years old, and tho we personally know little about plants at all, we consider this quite a phenomenon.

SOCIAL NEWS BY Louise Roundtree

A little five-year old birthday celebrant of last week is Susue Pyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Pyle of 126 N. E. 29th St. Susie had her little girl friends to a birthday luncheon in honor of the occasion.

The new charming residents of our town are Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Tice, now residing at

STRIP ZONING

The only area in Wilton Manors, planned for ideal parking facilities is east of the FEC Railway, and the proper zoning was requested by the developers who insist on a parking ratio of 3 to 1 or better.

New zoning ordinances, now in the mill, and creation of a planning board and adjustment board are corrective measures that can at the best be compared to buying a lock for the barn door after the horse has been stolen and is beyond recovery because he is dead.

GOT A COMPLAINT...USE THE SOAP BOX COLUMN

This Editor has been accused of being a soft Editor by a few persons in Wilton Manors. Memory is very short sometimes.....looking back over old issues of the Wilton Sunrise News brings recollection of several times this Editor has been called down by various persons who were of the opinion certain editorials should not have been written. Seems the point of view is determined by which side of the fence a person is on.

Many persons come into our office with complaints as to how the City is run, about the Water Dept. or Police Force and about the Garbage Pick-up and conditions of the street, etc.

We have many times asked the complainants to write a letter to the editor, explaining; if they wanted to remain anonymous we would respect their wishes when publishing their letter. To date we have had only two persons take advantage of the offer.

At this time we repeat our offer to publish letters, stipulating only that our files contain a copy signed by the writer and restricting the editorial to written word not abusive or obscene.

2639 N.E. 9th Ave. Mr. Tice, who was 37 years with General Motors and headed the Pontiac Sales Service of New Haven, Conn. has recently opened the new large Cities Service Station on No. Andrews Ave. at 24th Street. In partnership with him is his former top mechanic of Pontiac Sales Service in New Haven; Mr. Vincent Roy. This is not the Tice's first trip to Florida. A visit of three weeks last year showed them the advantages of the Florida climate for Mr. Tice's health. They are very pleased with Wilton Manors and Wilton Manors folks, and are just hoping when their son from Connecticut and their daughter and family from Hadenfield, N.J. come to visit them, that they, too will get enough "sand in their shoes" to make them want to come back. Mrs. Tice was active up north in church work, besides being a Red Cross Nurses Aide.

complete his education. His fellow-workers at Williams presented him with a traveling clock and two shirts — plus their best wishes for a bright future.

Boy Scout Troop 123 of Wilton Manors took 4th place in the Swim Meet between five local Troops at Pompano Beach Pool on last Friday Night, thanks to Jerry Wilkins who won them the honor.

The Wilton Manors Jay-Cees have started work on their park which will be know as "Jay Cee Park" from hereon. They have ploughed the ground up, and the next step will be sludge dirt as a base for the sod which will be laid. A sprinkling system will be installed and benches put about so localites and tourists alike can soon sit and rest their weary feet on their way from here to there. St. Petersburg will have nothing on us! In the planning stage at the present time is a community swimming pool for Hagen Park also by the Jay Cees.

A new face in Wilton Manors daily is that of Mr. Clarence Deverell, who has leased the Soda Fountain in Williams Pharmacy. He and Mrs. Deverell, Irene, live at 905 E. Broward. They have been in Lauderdale since 1942 and also operate Stanley Drugs on the Beach, which at the present time is being remodeled for an opening sometime in November. Until a week ago Mr. Deverell managed the fountain at Star Drugs on North Andrews Ave. Four men have succeeded him there since he left, and the last one dropped dead at the counter on Sunday. The Deverell family consists of a son Robert, who graduates from Central Catholic in June, and who will enter the Air Force in September; a daughter, Barbara, who is a ballet dancer studying under Fred Astaire Studios; and another daughter Mrs. Benjamin Baker, mother of a seven months old baby boy. Mrs. Baker is a professional ballet dancer who will go back to her work when her son is a little older. She has appeared on Ed. Sullivan's program, at many of the Beach Hotels, including Casa Blanca and at the Olympia Theatre in Miami. Besides having such a talented family, Clarence is a top chef, and does all his own cooking personally for his fountains.

Members of Girl Scout Intermediate Troop 85 found themselves on the receiving end of a good turn at their last meeting. Believing in learning from an expert, they visited, by special appointment, the Bixler Veterinary Hospital and Boarding Kennel, where Dr. Bixler instructed them in the more difficult requirements of their Cat and Dog Badge.

Frankie, a good-natured dachshound, was the well behaved, tho' slightly bewildered model as Dr. Bixler demonstrated proper methods of giving medicine and first aid to injured animals.

The girls all agreed this was the most interesting and easiest bit of badge work they had yet encountered, and give a hearty vote of thanks to Dr. Bixler for his kindness in giving up his evening to help them.
